

What does it take to convince you of just about anything? Facts, evidence, proof, rationale, testimonials, reviews, hard-copy, hands-on, visuals...what do you need to convince you that you should take the leap and entrust yourself to anyone or anything? Our world is filled with media 24/7, fake news, unbounded free speech, and constant commentary and analysis.

Let's assume you've heard about the resurrection from the dead of Jesus, the one they call the Christ/ the Deliverer. Are you convinced? Where does your response to the question put you?

One man's story: _____ evidence

Another man's story: _____ to believe

Yet another man's story: preponderance of _____

What's your story?

The Reason for our Hope
