

How do you know when you are in the right place at the right time? How do your friends and family confirm that understanding? We ordain pastors and missionaries for the Lord's service. How does that come about? Actually, people have been ordained for many tasks and walks of life. Our text today will hopefully help us see what God has been doing across time and all around us. As you prepare to hear from the Lord today, read Acts 13:1-3, look over the questions on the back of these notes, and ask God to move in your heart and across the broad spectrum of the ministry to which He has called us.

Personal Application and Group Interaction

1. What are your thoughts about fasting and the impact it has had on your devotion, decisions, worship and prayer life?
2. Why does God involve us to “set [people] apart” for Him? Describe some of the ways we set people apart for the work of the Lord.
3. Give some specific examples of the work to which God has called you. How did you come to recognize this as His calling?
4. What roles do we play in the way people recognize their calling?
5. How could we do a better job of sending people out to do the work to which God has called them?
