

We are all bombarded by countless messages. Is anyone listening? How does God get through to people who are dead set on going their own way? Who are we to suggest to anyone that God wants to get their attention and that He actually has a better way?

We hit the ground running today with Mark's account of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, the Son of God. I wonder what will Mark's Gospel make of us?

The Message:

Personal Application and Interaction

1. How do you go about sharing good news? What medium are you likely to use?
2. What have you seen God do to prepare you to hear from Him?
3. How do you know someone is ready to hear from God?
4. What do you do to help people come to terms with Jesus?
5. What have you experienced by way of distractions to the gospel? How does God help you handle those impossible distractions?
6. What stands out to you in Mark's short account of the temptation of Jesus in the wilderness (1:12-13)? How might you personalize this encounter?

The Messenger and the Message
