

Gifts are a constant reminder in our lives that represent happy and festive occasions throughout our lifetime. They bring us joy for our birthdays, holidays, anniversaries etc...

Never have I ever heard of someone being down for a gift that they received. Except for those rare occasions when someone plays a practical joke and gives you a rock for Christmas.

Yet if this is the case and a gift is meant to bring joy and life to people period... Why then is it possible that we live in a time and age when the biggest gift given to us isn't bringing people joy every single day of our lives? As we take a look at Paul's letter to the Ephesians today we will see the gift of life that was given to us and the joy and excitement found in it. Let's look at the beauty of God's workmanship through us and the beauty of faith and grace given to us freely through Christ by God.

Personal Application and Interaction

1. What forces cause us to go in the wrong direction spiritually?
2. How did your own change of direction through Christ come about?
3. What do you believe are the “good works” that add to our faith?
4. Have you taken ownership of your salvation, by living the “Christian life”? Or is Christ in complete control?
5. How do you respond to the idea that you are God’s workmanship?
6. The gift of life is all God given... If that’s the truth then what more is there for us to add?
