

Personal Application and Group Interaction

Our lives are marked by many different stages and transitions. Recall one of the most exciting transitions in your life.

Describe a time when someone “went to bat” for you. When have you served a witness on behalf of a friend, coworker, neighbor or even a stranger?

How do we as a ministry serve as witnesses to Christ in our own “Jerusalem, Judea, Samaria and to the ends of the earth?”

What do you have to say about Jesus? In what ways does the gospel account fit into your witness to the Savior?

The young church witnessed to all kinds of people: Jews, Gentiles, Samaritans, physically handicapped people, pagan people, merchants, a jailer, philosophers, governors and kings. How would you describe the breadth and depth of our testimony? Describe how God may be working in your life to expand your testimony to a variety of people.

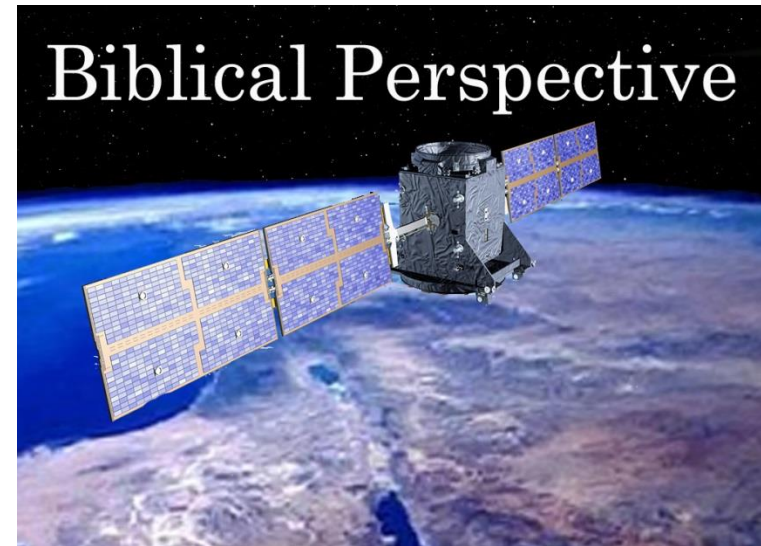

What will you say if God asks you, “Why should I let you into my heaven?”

How do you answer the question, “What about heaven for people who’ve never heard about Jesus? How could a good God send them to hell?”

How might the message of Romans help you clarify salvation to a friend?

How has the book of Romans been used by God to help you to “be transformed” (Romans 12:1-2)?

Paul said he would rather be banished to hell than see his people (the Jews) suffer an eternity without Christ’s salvation. How do you identify with this kind of passion for people?

You Will Be My Witnesses

Acts and Romans

What do you know, for sure, about Jesus? Who wants to know about your relationship to Him? How might He want you to represent Him to your family and friends? What would He like you to say about Him in order to encourage them to want to follow Him?

The books of Acts and Romans let us in on the amazing impact of the resurrection and witness of God's people to a life-changing relationship with Jesus. We continue our series highlighting the big picture of the Bible.
